II.1.4) Short description

WBL aims to challenge the market through the planned PCP, to develop innovative solutions/ algorithms to continuously analyse measured values and to convert these into intelligent signals that tell whether and what has changed in the system. Because of the many different types of sensors in the field, WBL has a large amount of data to process in real time. The quality of the data must be monitored and the structure of the data must be able to be changed easily and quickly, thus increasing the value of (Big) data for WBL. This will allow for more efficient planning of inspection and maintenance rounds and eventually lead to efficiency gains and cost reduction.
