

A photograph of a construction site for a sound barrier. Two workers in orange safety vests and white hard hats are visible. One worker is on a blue ladder leaning against a tall, grey, grid-patterned sound barrier panel. The other worker is on the ground, using a shovel. A yellow crane arm is positioned above the barrier. The background shows a railway track and some trees under an overcast sky. A large white circular graphic is overlaid on the right side of the image.
