The architectural drawings for the new school building are presented in three main sections:

- VOORGEVEL NIEUW (Front Elevation): Shows the front facade of the building, featuring a long, low profile with a series of windows and a central entrance area. A dimension line indicates a length of 100.00m.
- ADTERGEVEL NIEUW (Rear Elevation): Shows the rear facade, which is similar in style to the front but includes a large, dark, rectangular section on the right side, possibly a glass-enclosed area or a different material finish. A dimension line indicates a length of 100.00m.
- PLATTEGROND NIEUW (Floor Plan): A detailed site plan showing the layout of the building, including various rooms, corridors, and outdoor spaces. The plan is oriented with North at the top. A small inset map shows the location of the school within the surrounding area.

Additional details include a north arrow pointing towards the top right and a small table in the bottom right corner with the following information:

The image displays three architectural drawings for the University of California, Irvine campus. The primary drawing is a detailed floor plan of a large, multi-story building, showing various rooms, corridors, and structural elements. To the right of the floor plan is a section view, likely a cross-section, showing the building's profile and internal structure. Below the floor plan is a site plan, which provides an overview of the building's location within the campus context, including surrounding roads and other structures. The drawings are rendered in black lines on a white background, with various annotations and dimensions.
